SENIORS AND PARENTS, READ BELOW ABOUT CHOOSING THE BEST FINANCIAL AID PACKAGE.

Paying for college—the final frontier. It does not, however, have to be the most dreadful. After all, your students have already sent their applications and have already been accepted. The hard part is over! However, the fiscal issues surrounding college can be stressful if you don’t know what to look for. Many colleges and universities are very helpful—and generous—when it comes to offering financial aid, but become a wise shopper before you accept just anything. Simply because a package may meet 100 percent of your need doesn’t mean it’s the best deal.

When looking for the right package the key is to start looking early. Inquire about the types of financial aid offered by the school(s) your students have applied to. You should be interested in the aid the school can provide beyond federal loans, grants, and work-study jobs. You’ll want to know if a school has scholarships and grants of its own. Also, find out how dedicated to meeting your financial needs a school is.

Another key is to look everywhere else! There are literally thousands of sources of financial aid—Web sites, scholarship books, community organizations, etc. Did you know there is a scholarship for students who are left-handed? If you work for the United States Postal Service, your students may be eligible for a scholarship from one of your unions. Consider all of the sources that exist—the Internet, the library, or your students’ counselors are great places to start!

A final key to fiscal success in college funding is to complete and return the FAFSA as soon as possible. You want to know what federal dollars your students will be eligible for as soon as possible because this will help you negotiate a good package with the school(s) they are interested in. Suppose two schools have offered your students financial aid packages that meet 100 percent of your demonstrated need as determined by your Student Aid Report from the FAFSA. The single most important thing you’ll want to consider is the amount of debt for which you and your students will be liable.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>UNIVERSITY 1</th>
<th>UNIVERSITY 2</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>$5,000—Federal loans</td>
<td>$5,000—Scholarship (other sources)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$1,200—Work Study</td>
<td>$1,200—Work-study</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$2,000—Federal Grant</td>
<td>$2,000—Federal Grant</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$1,300—Scholarships (from school)</td>
<td>$1,300—Scholarships (from school)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$9,500/year with debt</td>
<td>$9,500/year without debt</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Both Schools will meet your family’s financial needs, but University 1 is offering $5,000 in student loans which must be paid back with interest. Scholarship hunting by you and your students may well have covered that expense for you in University 2.

Reducing the amount of debt you and your students will have upon graduation to the extent possible is very important. You don’t want to burden them with thousands of dollars of debt right out of school. It may not be possible to avoid loans altogether, but you want to hunt for every free dollar you can early on to reduce the debt later.

If a school truly wants your students in their freshman class, they will work with you to find funding sources. It’s never too early to start looking—a few hours spent hunting for scholarships now can save you lots of cash and anxiety later.
